

Dr. Frederick J. Mabie
Associate Professor of Bible Exposition
Talbot School of Theology

Frederick Mabie (he prefers to be called Fred) teaches Old Testament, Hermeneutics, and Ancient Near Eastern History @ Talbot School of Theology. He presents papers in these areas as well as Semitic studies at national meetings of the Evangelical Theological Society, the Society for Biblical Literature, and the American Schools of Oriental Research. He has served as a missionary in Kazakhstan working with troubled youth and is currently active in teaching and evangelism with his local church in San Clemente. Fred strongly desires to see people become mighty in the content and meaning of the biblical texts as they prepare for ministry. He is a graduate of UCLA (Ph.D. & M.A.), The Master's Seminary (M.Div.), New York University (M.B.A.) and did his undergraduate work at Rutgers College (B.A.). We are delighted to have him come and share with us this morning!

Sermon Notes ~ August 7th, 2005
"The Essence Of A Fruitful Branch"
John 15:1-11

Dr. Frederick J. Mabie
Associate Professor of Bible Exposition
Talbot School of Theology

Frederick Mabie (he prefers to be called Fred) teaches Old Testament, Hermeneutics, and Ancient Near Eastern History @ Talbot School of Theology. He presents papers in these areas as well as Semitic studies at national meetings of the Evangelical Theological Society, the Society for Biblical Literature, and the American Schools of Oriental Research. He has served as a missionary in Kazakhstan working with troubled youth and is currently active in teaching and evangelism with his local church in San Clemente. Fred strongly desires to see people become mighty in the content and meaning of the biblical texts as they prepare for ministry. He is a graduate of UCLA (Ph.D. & M.A.), The Master's Seminary (M.Div.), New York University (M.B.A.) and did his undergraduate work at Rutgers College (B.A.). We are delighted to have him come and share with us this morning!

Sermon Notes ~ August 7th, 2005
"The Essence Of A Fruitful Branch"
John 15:1-11

Continued Sermon Notes ~ August 7th, 2005
"The Essence Of A Fruitful Branch"
John 15:1-11

Continued Sermon Notes ~ August 7th, 2005
"The Essence Of A Fruitful Branch"
John 15:1-11